

Speaking the Unspeakable

An Intervention Journal webinar on suicide prevention and response

Thursday 7 October 2021 | 14:00 - 15:30 CET

Join us for our webinar on suicide prevention and response. Using the articles recently published in the special section on suicide prevention and response in our September issue as a starting point, we aim to provide a space for dialogue, sharing experiences and mutual learning.

► Register for this webinar here

Together with panelists and attendees, we hope to encourage those present in trusting that action is possible in this very challenging aspect of MHPSS. We will be inviting four authors to open a dialogue together on this topic. The webinar also features a special message from Dr Lakshmi Vijayakumar, a psychiatrist with extensive knowledge and experience in suicide prevention and response.

Four authors with articles in our special section on suicide prevention and response will make up the panel:

Parbati Shrestha

Shrestha, P., Lama, S. M. T., & Nepal, R. \(2021\). An Initiative in Suicide Prevention: Best Practices, Challenges and Lessons Learnt from Nepal. *Intervention*, 19\(2\), 249-254

Hatem Marzouk

Marzouk, H. A. \(2021\). International Organization for Migration Iraq Mental and Psychosocial Support Programme Suicide Prevention Activities. *Intervention*, 19\(2\), 255- 260

Gail Theisen-Womersley

Theisen-Womersley, G. \(2021\). Suicide Prevention and Response Among Refugees: Personal Reflections on Self-Care for Frontline Mental Health and Psychosocial Support Workers. *Intervention*, 19\(2\), 261-265.

Ariel Zarate

Fischer, L., Zarate, A., Mozumder, K., Elshazly, M., & Rosenbaum, S. \(2021\). Barriers, Attitudes, Confidence and Knowledge of Mental Health and Psychosocial Humanitarian Staff in Cox's Bazar

We look forward to seeing you at the webinar. We aim to create a safe space, in which all those present can share ideas, thoughts and experiences.

We are very grateful to the IASP for hosting this webinar.